00 How to use this guide

Read each section of this guide before you take the matching quiz on EduPortal. Every quiz question is answered somewhere in these pages. The gold boxes headed Remember sum up the main points of each module.

1. Read one module in this guide. It takes about 5 minutes.
2. Take that module's quiz on EduPortal. It has 10 questions, and you need 8 right to pass.
3. If you don't pass, read the feedback, look at the module again and retake the quiz. You can try as many times as you need.
4. When you pass all eight quizzes, EduPortal gives you your completion certificate automatically.

Who to contact

Your cohort administrator (also called your SDF Administrator) is your first contact for every question about your learnership. EduPortal shows which one manages your cohort. Email them directly. You should get an acknowledgement the same working day.

01 Who EducaSure is and who funds you

EducaSure is an accredited training provider. We deliver your learnership: the classes, the facilitators, the assessments and the support around them. We are not a government department, a recruitment agency or a SETA.

The organisations behind your learnership

Who	What they do for you
EducaSure	An accredited training provider. Runs your programme from start to finish.
SETA	A Sector Education and Training Authority. Each SETA funds and oversees skills training in one industry.
QCTO	The Quality Council for Trades and Occupations. Oversees occupational qualifications and accredits providers like EducaSure.
SetaLink	EducaSure's sister company. Helps employers with SETA grants and the skills levy.
Your employer	The company you are placed with. It is your employer during the learnership, as set out in your learnership agreement.

Who pays for your place

Your learnership is usually paid for by a SETA grant, through the employer you are placed with. You don't pay fees, and you don't pay the grant back. Because the money is tied to you, it comes with a responsibility: attend, submit your work and finish. If learners drop out, the funding is put at risk.

What a learnership is

A learnership combines classroom learning and workplace experience. If you complete it successfully, you earn a nationally recognised qualification. A learnership doesn't guarantee you a permanent job, but the qualification and experience count with employers.

REMEMBER

- EducaSure is the accredited provider that delivers your learnership.
- A SETA grant, paid through your employer, funds your place.
- The QCTO accredits providers. SetaLink helps employers with grants and levies.
- Your employer is the company you are placed with.
- Finishing earns you a nationally recognised qualification.
- You are not enrolled until you finish this onboarding course.

02 Your programme

Your programme name, start date and end date are on your EduPortal profile and in your learnership agreement. Check them in your first week.

Two terms you will see often

Term	What it means
NQF level	Shows how difficult and advanced your qualification is. A higher number means more advanced.
Credits	A measure of the learning time your qualification needs. One credit is about 10 hours of learning.

The three parts of your programme

- Knowledge: what you learn in class.
- Practical skills: doing the tasks yourself.
- Workplace experience: time at your employer, where you apply what you learn and build evidence for your PoE. It is not optional, and it is not for running errands.

People and plans

Your classes are taught by a registered facilitator booked for your programme. Your main contact at EducaSure is the SDF Administrator for your cohort.

The timetable shows when every class, deadline and assessment happens, so you can plan around it. It is your plan to follow, not a rough idea.

Your programme ends with an external exam called the EISA (External Integrated Summative Assessment). Module 5 explains it.

If any dates change, you will hear through official notices on EduPortal and from your SDF Administrator. Don't rely on rumours.

> REMEMBER
>
> - Your programme details are on EduPortal and in your agreement.
> - NQF level = how advanced. Credits = how much learning time.
> - The three parts are knowledge, practical skills and workplace experience.
> - Your facilitator teaches. Your SDF Administrator is your main contact.
> - Your programme ends with the EISA. Changes are announced officially.

03 The documents we need and by when

We need your documents to register you with the SETA. Without them you cannot be enrolled or funded. If your documents are missing or wrong, your registration can be delayed or rejected, and you may not be enrolled. EducaSure cannot fix documents for you.

What to send

Document	Notes
Certified copy of your ID	Certified within the last 3 months.
Highest qualification	For example, your matric certificate.
CV	Short and up to date.
Learnership agreement	Signed by you, your employer and EducaSure, then registered with the SETA.

We never need your bank PIN, your passwords or photos of your home. Never send them to anyone.

What "certified copy" means

A certified copy is a photocopy that a Commissioner of Oaths has stamped and signed as a true copy, for example at a police station. A plain photocopy, a screenshot or a copy signed by a friend is not certified.

When and how to send them

- When: by the date your SDF Administrator gives you, before your first class.
- How: only through the official channel your SDF Administrator gives you, such as the EduPortal upload. Never post them in a WhatsApp group, on Facebook or through a classmate. Your personal information is protected by POPIA.

If your phone number or address changes during the programme, update it on EduPortal and tell your SDF Administrator straight away.

> REMEMBER
>
> - No documents means no SETA registration, and no registration means no enrolment.
> - Send a certified ID copy (certified within 3 months), your highest qualification and your CV.
> - Get copies certified by a Commissioner of Oaths.
> - Submit before your first class, through the official channel only.
> - Keep your contact details up to date.

04 Attendance and the virtual classroom

You must keep at least 80% attendance. Missed classes leave gaps in your learning, and funders and SETAs check attendance records.

Joining a class

1. Use the link on EduPortal or the official invite. Never use a link a stranger posts.
2. Sign in with your own name, so you appear on the register.
3. Join a few minutes before the start time, to sort out any connection problems.
4. Keep your microphone muted unless you are speaking. Turn your camera on when the facilitator asks.

Your attendance is recorded from your login to the session and the facilitator's register. Nobody else may sign in for you.

When something goes wrong

Situation	What to do
Your data runs out	Tell your SDF Administrator before the class, then catch up on the recording or material.
You are sick	Tell your SDF Administrator as early as possible, and give proof when you return.
You forget your password	Log it with your cohort administrator. They route it to the IT administrator, Shantel (shantel@educasure.co.za), who resets it the same day.

Your EduPortal login is yours alone. Never share it with family, classmates or your employer.

> REMEMBER
>
> - Minimum attendance is 80%.
> - Use official links, sign in under your own name and join early.
> - Your login and the facilitator's register record your attendance.
> - Tell your SDF Administrator early if you will miss a class or have data problems.
> - Never share your login.

05 Assessments, PoE and the EISA

Assessments are how we and the SETA know you are competent. Every result is either Competent (C) or Not Yet Competent (NYC). There are no A–F grades.

Term	What it means
PoE	Portfolio of Evidence: the collection of your work that proves you are competent.
Formative assessment	A practice task during learning that helps you and your facilitator see your progress.
Summative assessment	A formal assessment at the end of a module that decides whether you are competent.
EISA	The External Integrated Summative Assessment: a final external exam set under the QCTO.

If you are Not Yet Competent

You get feedback and a chance to resubmit or be re-assessed. NYC is not the end of your programme.

Getting ready for the EISA

Before you can write the EISA, you must have a complete PoE and every required module signed off as competent.

Rules for your work

- Your work must be your own. Copying a classmate's work or using AI to write your answers is misconduct, and the work will not be accepted.
- Submit by the due date. Late work holds up marking, moderation and your EISA date.
- If you disagree with a result, lodge an appeal through EducaSure's appeals procedure within the stated time.

> REMEMBER
>
> - Your PoE is your evidence of competence.
> - Formatives are for practice. Summatives decide if you are competent.
> - Results are C or NYC, and NYC means you get feedback and another chance.
> - You need a complete PoE and all modules signed off before the EISA.
> - Do your own work, submit on time, and appeal formally if you disagree.

06 Learner conduct

The learner code of conduct applies everywhere you learn: in class (online or in person), at your workplace, and in learner groups and chats.

ALWAYS

- Speak respectfully to facilitators, staff and classmates, even when you disagree.
- At your workplace, follow the employer's rules, hours and dress code like any employee.
- Report harassment or bullying to your SDF Administrator.
- Submit only your own work.

NEVER

- Insult, bully or harass anyone, in person or online.
- Share classmates' personal details. They are protected by POPIA.
- Record a class and post it online without permission.
- Come to class or work under the influence of alcohol or drugs. This is serious misconduct.
- Submit someone else's work as your own. This is dishonesty and misconduct.

If the code is broken

EducaSure takes corrective steps, from a warning up to termination of your learnership agreement. Before any serious action, you have the right to hear the complaint and give your side of the story.

REMEMBER

- The code applies in class, at work and in chats.
- Be respectful, and report harassment.
- Protect other people's personal information.
- Substance abuse and plagiarism are misconduct.
- Breaking the code can end your agreement, but you always get a fair hearing first.

07 How to ask for help and how to complain

Your first point of contact for any question about your learnership is your SDF Administrator. When you send a query, it is logged and routed to the right person, who answers you. You should get at least an acknowledgement the same working day.

If you don't understand a topic from class, first ask your facilitator, in class or in the official class channel.

Contact details for every cohort administrator and the IT administrator are on page 2.

Making a complaint

A complaint is a formal report that something has gone wrong that you want addressed. Make it in writing through EducaSure's complaints channel, such as the EduPortal form or email. Don't complain on WhatsApp groups or Facebook.

> Include in your complaint: your name, your programme, what happened, when it happened, and what you would like done. Never include other learners' ID numbers or personal details.

Where to take it

Complaint about	Send it to
Most issues	Your SDF Administrator, through the complaints channel
Your SDF Administrator	The Head of Operations & Compliance
Not resolved by EducaSure	You can escalate it to the SETA or the QCTO

Complaints are handled fairly and without retaliation. You won't be treated badly for complaining.

> REMEMBER
>
> - Your SDF Administrator is your first contact. Expect an acknowledgement the same working day.
> - Take questions about class content to your facilitator first.
> - Complain in writing, with the specifics.
> - Complaints about your SDF Administrator go to the Head of Operations & Compliance.
> - If it isn't resolved, you can escalate to the SETA or the QCTO.

08 What happens if you fall behind

Most problems in a cohort start in the first two weeks. Falling behind means missing classes, not submitting work, or not participating. One low mark doesn't count as falling behind.

Your SDF Administrator follows up every month, learner by learner, on anyone who hasn't submitted work or taken part.

If you realise you are behind

1. Contact your SDF Administrator early. Don't hide it or drop out quietly.
2. Agree a catch-up plan. It lists your outstanding work, new due dates and support sessions.
3. Follow the plan, and respond promptly whenever your SDF Administrator contacts you.

If your personal circumstances change, for example because of illness, family or transport, tell your SDF Administrator so the two of you can discuss your options. We can only help if we know.

Why it matters

- If your PoE is incomplete, you won't be found ready for the EISA.
- Funding and cohort deadlines, such as EISA readiness, depend on every learner progressing.
- If you keep falling behind and don't respond, you can get formal warnings, and your learnership agreement may be terminated.

> REMEMBER
>
> - Falling behind means missed classes, missing work or not participating.
> - Your SDF Administrator follows up monthly.
> - Ask for help as soon as you notice a problem, and agree a catch-up plan.
> - Always respond to follow-ups.
> - Ignoring the problem can end your learnership.

You're ready. Log in to EduPortal and take your quiz.
